Saturday, April 20, 2013

National Shooting Complex
5931 Roft Rd., SATX, 78253

Schedule of Events:

- 8:00 a.m. – Registration Breakfast

Over $3,000 in Door Prizes
Over $3,000 in Shooting Prizes
Silent/Live Auction

*Shooting prizes based on Lewis Draw:

When all shooting has been completed, the scores are listed in numerical order, from the highest to the lowest. They are then divided into as many groups as there are classes. For example, if there were 30 Lewis Class entries and 5 classes, there would be 6 scores in each class. The highest score in each class would be the winner. It's the luck of the draw. This is a good bet for a beginning shooter, because a low score has a good chance of winning.

Benefitting...

The Acid Maltase Deficiency Association, formed to assist in funding research and to promote public awareness of Acid Maltase Deficiency, also known as Pompe Disease. Pompe disease is one of a family of 49 rare genetic disorders known as Lysosomal Storage Diseases or LSDs. Pompe disease is also known as Acid Maltase Deficiency or Glycogen Storage Disease type II. At one time, AMD was a death sentence, now, there are treatments coming on line but still no cure.

Raising funds for an organization like AMDA is difficult at best. The number of people impacted by this disease is relatively small (1 in 40,000) when compared to cancers and other respiratory illnesses such as asthma. It is when that small number includes one of your own, that it takes on new meaning.

On April 21, 2012 the PCMA of Texas hosted the Second Annual Pull for Pompe Fundraiser and raised over $90,000. All proceeds from the Fundraiser went to the 2012 AMDA Research Grant. The 2012 Grant Recipient was Dr. Nuno Raimundo of the University of Goettingen in Germany.

Lysosomes are responsible for recycling damaged cellular material. Lysosomal storage diseases like Pompe Disease arise from biochemical deficiencies in the recycling machinery of the lysosomes. It is becoming increasingly clear that deficits in lysosomal performance result in impairment of other cellular organelles, particularly mitochondria, which further contributes to the pathology of lysosomal storage disorders.

The long-term goal of Dr. Raimundo's project is to improve the skeletal muscle phenotypes of Pompe's disease by enhancing both the recycling capacity of lysosomes, and the generation of new mitochondria, using both biological manipulations and pharmacologic approaches with FDA-approved drugs. This strategy will increase the capacity of lysosomes to clear up damaged cellular components, and increase the amount of "healthy" mitochondria.
